Manuscript Guidelines

RECEIPT of Manuscript: Upon receipt, the manuscript is reviewed by Louis Martinie, Content Editor. This usually takes 15 business days. The author is contacted with a tentative acceptance or a definite declination. Reasons are provided for both outcomes. Preferred format of manuscript should be Word doc or PDF.

PUBLISHING CONTRACT: If a tentative acceptance is offered, the author is advised to carefully read our contract and write to us with any concerns they have as to the conditions of the contract. The author contacts Black Moon Publishing with their concerns or acceptance of the contract's conditions. It is important to note that points in the contract are negotiable. If an impasse is reached as to the points of the contract, the process stops here. The contract is available on our website.

ADEPT READERS: If the contract is at least generally acceptable, then the manuscript goes to three Adept Readers for review. These readers usually communicate their impressions of the manuscript to Black Moon Publishing within 15 business days.

BLACK MOON MEETINGS: We have weekly meetings at which the reviews of the Adept Readers and any issues as to the manuscript's content or form are discussed. Upon consensus, the manuscript is formally accepted for publication or formally declined.

SUGGESTIONS: Louis Martinie, as Content Editor writes the author with the decision and communicates with the author as to possible suggested changes in the manuscript to insure readability and clearness of content. Time frame for this is very variable.

AUTHOR OK: Once the author writes Black Moon with their "OK" after agreement between the author and Black Moon as to possible changes, the manuscript enters the production phase which includes layout, design and digital proofing. Once the digital proof is approved the files are then uploaded for publication. This usually takes about 20 business days and concludes with PUBLICATION!
